The following are questions which are designed to give the therapy faculty some impression of who you are and your reasons for being interested in our program. There are no right or wrong answers. Please answer in depth. Feel free to add any additional comments and/or information.

3. What 5 adjectives would you choose to best describe yourself? For each, give an incident from your life which illustrates this characteristic of you.
4. All of us have people in our life who are important to us and about whose feelings and opinions we care. These individuals are often referred to as a “reference group”. Tell us something about your reference group, indicating who they are and how they have affected you.
5. What does the phrase “family therapy” mean to you? What distinction do you make between family therapy and other forms of helping relationships?
6. What life experiences have led to your decision to enter the helping profession to train to be a therapist?
7. Why did you choose this particular training program?
8. If for some reason you could not enter this program, or a program like it, what would be your next choice as a career?
9. Write a question and answer that you think would help us know you better. Answer it as fully as you feel able to.
