2. Health Summit Update
   a. The 4th Annual Health Summit was held on May 10th at the University Of Maryland School Of Public Health. This year’s summit focused on developing leaders for the CREATE for Change program, an arts-based, intergenerational project focused on raising awareness about HIV and STD prevention through creative expression in the greater Seat Pleasant community. The high school students and senior citizens were very involved in all of the sessions and worked together to understand each other’s individual generation. During the discussion session the students expressed their opinions of who influences their number of partners, consistency to use condoms and likelihood to take an HIV test.
