About the MPH/MHA Capstone Project in Public Health:

All professional degree programs in the School of Public Health require students to complete a culminating experience through which they demonstrate skill and integration of knowledge learned in their program of study. This culminating experience requires a student to synthesize and integrate knowledge acquired in coursework and other learning experiences and to apply theory and principles in a situation that approximates some aspect of professional practice. It is used as a means by which faculty judge whether the student has mastered the body of knowledge and can demonstrate proficiency in the required competencies.
